ABOUT ME

Hey there! I'm Chloe, a fun, adventurous, and eccentric lifestyle influencer living in New York City. I have been passionate about sharing and creating content for over 7 years. My love for creating and influencing has brought me and my following on a journey of my life in New York. With a collective social media following of over 569,000 followers I am able to find ways to engage, create, and share brand content, lifestyle choices, and inspiration for young women and men living in the city and around the world.

As a college student in the most exciting city in the world I am faced with hundreds of life choices a day. From how to manage fun and work, to how to find time for myself with the overload of possibilities flying around me, I am able to share to my followers the way I love to live. I am also a working actress, and model and my followers get to also see behind the scenes of my work. From brand content, BTS videos and posts, to self care routines, my followers love to see everything I do.
